Mrs. Guess died from hemorrhage of the brain, and was only thirty-two years of age. She was a Lomita visitor three months ago before leaving for Europe.

THE JUNIOR PARADE

One of the special attractions of the Chautauqua that has not heretofore been publicly mentioned was that of the Junior Chautauqua parade, conducted on Tuesday evening last week by Mrs. Fultz, who organized the children for the junior Chautauqua work. By way of tribute to their leader, the announcement is made that Mrs. Fultz is the highest paid organizer of this kind in the Chautauqua circuit, and deservedly earns the honor. The officers of the body were: Carl Burmaster, mayor; Geo. Watson, Jr., chief of police; Mary Alice Davis, clerk; Catherine Wheaton, Matsuo Taksuma and Geraldine Miller, patrolmen; Francis Aderson and Robert Lessing, civil service commissioners. These appointments proved to be responsible for the excellent behavior of the children at the Chautauqua entertainment, the final verdict of the management being that Torrance has the best behaved children of any city visited so far on their circuit.

These officers were also in charge of the parade, which occurred the last day of the Chautauqua. First were the decorated bicycles, followed by the band, drums, tin can brigade, sirens, black-face comedians, flower girls, etc. Prizes were awarded for the funniest girl, Edyth Watkins; Boo Peep, Margaret Marsh; the prettiest dressed girl, Hazel Clark; funniest boy, Robert Lessing; prize dog, cheese hound, from the interior of Africa, Verna Propero; cowboy, Paul Lessing. Other characters represented were "The Spirit of '76" and Boob McNut. After the parade Roy Flood, photographer, lined up the bunch and snapped a picture of the entrants.

THE HOME PAPER FIRST

The man who subscribes and pays for a newspaper—and everybody who pretends to be anybody does so these days—spends more money each year on that newspaper than he does on any other printed item. He spends more for a paper than a magazine, because it's worth more to him. If it cost him ten times as much he would still buy it, and if the price was placed beyond his means he would find some excuse for borrowing it from his neighbor. He would have it, because without it he is at a disadvantage with his neighbor and competitor. He wouldn't know what was going on if he didn't have it, and he would be left standing still while his neighbor and every one around him kept moving on. When a medium like the home-town paper is so close to the hearts of the people, when it is so vital to them, is it any wonder that the columns of that paper are such an important place in which to advertise? Is it any wonder that newspaper advertising brings big returns in good season or bad?

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?
By C. N. LURIE
Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"THESE SORT," "THOSE KIND."
A COMMON error, and one that grates with especial harshness on the ear of a person who has been trained in the correct use of English, is the use of such phrases as "those kind" and "these sort." How often we hear, "I cannot bear those kind of people."
"The words "these" and "those" are plural in number—that is, they denote more than one; the words "sort," "kind," etc., are singular in number, indicating one group, one class of persons or objects. According to a simple rule of grammar, the adjective and the noun, when used together, must agree in number—that is, when the noun is singular or plural the adjective must be singular or plural. Therefore do not say, "I do not like those kind of people," but say "I do not like that kind of people," or, better, "I do not like people of that kind."

FAITH
BECAUSE a thing's a Mystery
Does not destroy the FAITH
of me,
There's lots of things on sea and land
I don't pretend to understand,
And yet I see them plain and flat
In spite of that.
'Tis so with LIFE and You and Me.
We don't know how we came to be,
But I've a sort of faith supreme
That we're not all an idle dream,
And that some time long, long ago,
Just when, or how, I do not know,
Some Mind with purpose true and clear,
Created Earth and put us here,
And gave us life, and love and wit,
To make a fairer place of it,
To call it CHANCE some folks delight;
I call it GOD—and know I'm right.

TO MAKE REPORT

A. J. Stinton, president of the Lomita Business Men's Association, requests that all reports of the fire collection committee be in at the next meeting of the association, May 9.

NOTICE
TO LOMITA ATHLETIC CLUB

At the business men's meeting Monday night it was recommended that the secretary be instructed to notify the Lomita Athletic Club that their dues had been reduced to $1.25 per night. This was done to help defray expense of cleaning the hall and to pay for the lights used.

LAUGH WITH US

A new kind of alcohol has been discovered, but what a great number of fellows want is more of the old kind.

Maybe the reason some women never appear to be contented is because they've heard contentment makes people fat.

You've also probably noticed it takes longer to descend from the peak of high prices than it did to climb up to it.

So far the nations that have paid dues in the League of Nations have not received much to show for their money.

If you think people are not full of suggestions, just start down the street and tell them you've got a bad cold.

Germany is enthusiastic over a plan to float bonds in the United States, but so far we haven't heard very much cheering over here.

The reason most editors don't print exactly what they think is because they don't want to spend a lot of time in a hospital.

Henry Ford is still fighting the Jews, and when he gets that out of his system we suppose he'll turn his attention to home brew.

The Allies have discovered that you can hold a German down, but you can't make him cough up.

WANTED—A DENTIST

The great demand for dental work in Lomita would more than support a reputable dentist if an office were opened here. Every week there are dozens who are compelled to leave here for appointments, and in most instances it is difficult to get the work done. Patrons complain that it is exceedingly difficult to obtain appointments with dentists in either Torrance or San Pedro.
